

UP... UP and AWAY!

Though Russia claims Furvin Kryakutskoi trapped foul-smelling smoke in a bag and rose to the height of a birch tree in 1731, historians credit Joseph and Etienne Montgolfier with the invention of the hot-air balloon in 1783. Today this invention is almost unchanged, and hot-air ballooning is again touching the imagination of adventuresome people.

Of the approximately 50 registered hot-air balloons owned in America, two belong to the Stateline, Nev., Quicksilver Productions Corp., of which Deke Sonnichsen is president when not a Lockheed Missiles and Space Company Senior Vehicle Test Coordinator who resides in Menlo Park, Calif.

Deke, co-founder of the Sport Balloon Society of the United States of America, which is affiliated with the Balloon Federation of America, last year filed claim for six new world records to the Federation Aeronautique Internationale, which formulates records and sanctions all air events and rules throughout the world.

But it is not merely for competition that Deke, wife Joanne and son Kirke, use the two flying machines.

On weekends, neighbors are invited over and the smaller balloon, tied to a lengthy tether line, lifts friends and children above the treetops. At other times, Deke helps train future balloonists at the Daedalus School of Free-Ballooning, the first in the country, at the Menlo Oaks Balloon Field in his city, or at nearby Tracy, Calif. Before and during firing up the balloon, he explains its history and workings, then joins the student to rise skyward.

When speaking before flying clubs, aeronautical groups and schools, Deke discusses the relation between ballooning and the mighty rockets for outer space which Lockheed produces.

In the sport of hot-air ballooning, there are two controllable directions: up and down. The winds create lateral movement and any ascension might end miles from take-off.

For Deke, whose brightly-colored aircraft (representing the orange, red and yellow of the heat spectrum's lower end) have replaced his parachuting efforts (he led the U.S. Parachute Team in 1962, 1963 and 1964 to FAI meets), these moments of free-flight have replaced free-fall. He shares the silent ride above the rolling California country with those who seek to be up, up and away in that magnificent flying machine.

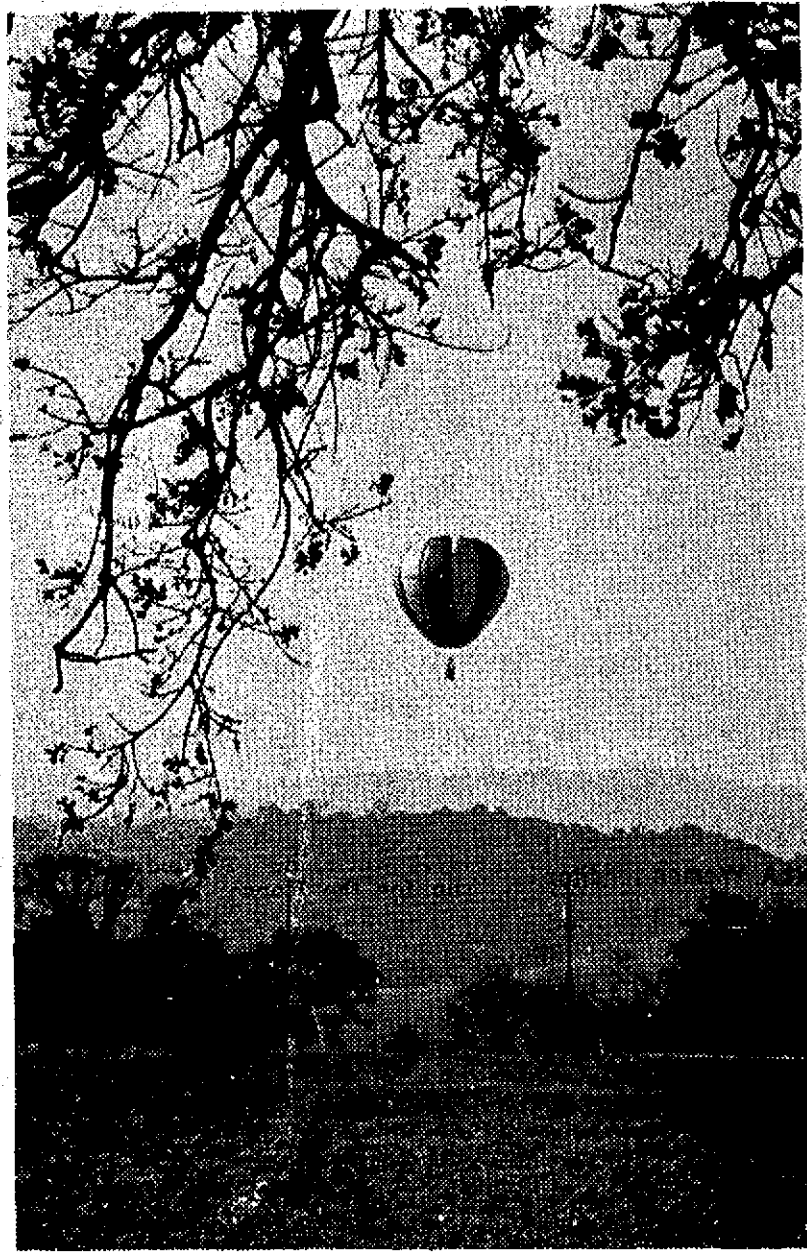

Deke steadies the wicker basket while Stanford art teacher Bob Mullen climbs aboard.

Following pre-flight examination, Deke carefully packs the balloon while Bob Mullen holds the envelope bag.

Wife Joanne guides the lifting balloon as Deke pours in the hot-air.

Off for a day's drifting.

Son Kirke gets a fatherly ride at home.

In a world-record attempt, Deke increases the heat for lift-off.

Mrs. McCarthy

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Mrs. Eugene McCarthy doesn't have the glamor of the Kennedy women. She is handsome in a motherly way and she has to watch her weight.

Yet when she greets you and smiles, her face lights up with an inner beauty that makes every woman in the room look plain.

She spoke of her husband's 20-year career in politics. "Some of the young people to day are too young to remember the terror of the other McCarthy era. It was such a terror, such a freezing that many men of great honor and great name weren't there. But Gene went on the air to debate him because he always fought the scapegoat theory of history.

Abigail McCarthy
Prefers to be in the background.

"I was terrified. I was dragging my feet. I felt that someone should do this but that it shouldn't be Gene. I was dragging my feet all the way."

Abigail McCarthy claims her record is as far as her husband's political decisions are concerned.

"Gene was acting chairman of the sociology department at the College of St. Thomas at St. Paul, Minn., back in 1948 when he decided to run for the House. My feeling was that it was nice being a professor's wife.

"When he decided to run for the Senate, I was perfectly happy with what he was doing in the House. And when he decided to run for president, I thought it was too frightening and lonely a prospect."

It's typical of Mrs. McCarthy to play down her role in her husband's career. If possible, she prefers to be part of the background. But she is an unusual woman who has been teacher, author, Phi Beta Kappa scholar, church leader in the ecumenical movement, housewife and mother of four. She is deeply involved in the role of women in American life.

Born in Wabasha, Minn., a town of about 2,000 at that time (1916), she was the daughter of a weekly newspaper editor and publisher. She taught in public schools in North Dakota and Minnesota and was on the faculty of three colleges.

I asked her why, with her newspaper background, she chose teaching instead of journalism as a career.

"Oh, I helped on the paper and I loved it," she said. "I can do everything except operate the linotype."

"Our paper, the Wabasha Herald, was 150 years old," she continued. "My father was the old-fashioned kind of newspaperman. He put editorials on the front page."

"When I was old enough to realize that our paper was 'different,' I told daddy that in St. Paul they put the NEWS on the front page."

She said with nostalgia that "At that time newspapers had individuality. Old editors were terribly literate. It's still a joy to read those editorials."

Mrs. McCarthy believes women have a definite place in politics along with their husbands. "Strategy meetings began with the whole family gathered around the dining room table in our home," she said.

"I guess it's partly because I come from a frontier state where all women are involved in everything that is part of life. The University of Minnesota accepted women students from its beginning. And it never occurred to the men in my family that women shouldn't be involved in politics and affairs of the country."

It came through that Abigail's soft voice and calm.

Boy Finds First Love

COME TO MY HOUSE. By John McIntosh. Harcourt, Brace, $4.95.

Stevie Finlay, at 17, is concerned more with dreams of the opposite sex than anything else, and this comic novel is a lightly mocking depiction of Stevie's callow journey into romance.

The two girls next door create Stevie's problems. He is very moon-eyed about the pretty one, Unica, but unfortunately Unica is enamored of a young medical student. Her elder sister Helen, who is a bit on the fey side, tags Stevie around in her own moon-eyed way and makes things complicated.

But that's not all. Stevie's family is something of a circus in itself. His father, a really good athlete in his youth, is obsessed with the idea that he still is quite a foot-racer. Stevie's 6-year-old brother, called The Monster, can create more trouble than a flock of gremlins. And his grandmother is a dotty old girl who meddles in other people's affairs, sometimes with surprising results.

So it is that Stevie's emergence from adolescence is a pretty trying time, and the story leads to a farcical climax which very nearly turns into disaster.

The setting happens to be a small town in South Africa, but the human equations of life apply just as much there as in any other geographical location.

The book is well written. It's no profound literary achievement, but it has its amusing aspects.

Miles A. Smith

quiet exterior hide the heart of a decided feminist.

Because her children are so active in their father's campaign, I asked how they felt about being in the limelight.

"Kids who grow up in Washington, D.C., don't feel special," she said. "It's just the kind of work your father's in."

"When Michael was seven, a friend asked how he felt about his father being in the Senate."

"I don't know," Michael answered. "When I was born and became conscious, he was already there."

There are those who say Abigail and the children are a great asset to the senator in his bid for the presidency. And since a sense of humor is always a good bet in getting votes no one will argue that Abigail could be a winner.

Pointing to her daughter Mary's skirt, and then to her own several inches longer, she quipped, "That's the generation gap everyone's been talking about."

STATISTICS DON'T TELL IT ALL

Dear Helen: A survey in New York City shows that one out of every six births is illegitimate, which means there has been a 112.5 per cent increase in unwed motherhood in the last ten years.

The statistics said the largest proportion of illegitimate births — 24 per cent in 1957, and 38.3 per cent in 1967 — was among non-whites, but the "FASTEST" rate of increase was for whites. Ten years ago their illegitimate birth rate was 1.7, and now it is 5.3.

This, of course, is New York City, but the same trend is evident throughout the country.

It's kind of awful when you think that unwed motherhood has more than doubled in a decade. Is everybody becoming immoral?

—SHOCKED

Dear Shocked: There's an old saying, "Some people use statistics as a drunk uses a lamp post: More to lean on than to shed light."

The rise in the illegitimate birth rate has one partial explanation that most people overlook: Ten years ago an unwed expectant mother "had to get married" because society pretty well doomed her if she didn't. And so she wasn't listed as a statistic — except later on, in the "divorce survey."

These days a girl is often counseled NOT to marry the boy.

(Also, among poorer people, a new baby means a bigger Welfare check.)

This, of course, doesn't entirely explain away the increase in illegitimacies but perhaps it helps prove statistics don't tell the whole story.

Babies always have been and always will be conceived out of wedlock. We're more honest about admitting it now, that's all.

—H.

Dear Helen: About "Jade" and "K.K.," who called you names, and told "old people" to watch out or the teen world would stomp 'em: How insecure can two dumb little kids get? My friends and I couldn't stop laughing when we read their letter. It was a child's way to show soreheadedness by name calling and slander.

I'll wager they are very unpopular at school, especially with boys, as they show all too plainly they are under par in intelligence, personality and confidence.

They should remember that a person who is confident of his flaws does not have to use threats of violence to get across a point, and may I re-state an old but true phrase: "Empty barrels make the most noise." —JOHN

Dear Helen: May I please apologize for Jade and K.K. and assure you that most teens wouldn't write a letter like that. While we sometimes don't agree with adults, we respect them and what they think and we appreciate those who go to bat for us — like you. We say you and others who understand us are more welcome in our generation than those two stupid teeny-boppers who should be voted out of the teen race. —GORDON, JOAN, BILL AND LINDA

Dear Kids: Several hundred teens blasted Jade and K.K. Only one stood up for them. In the interest of fair reporting, I'll print her letter:

Dear Smart Alec, Helen: Where do you old bats get your answers — telling Jade and K.K. to "go chew on a bar of soap." They told the truth, so you have to smart off.

You old fogies are all the same, misguiding kids so they can't have any fun. Well, you won't win because we're too smart. I dare you to visit the Thunderbird Rink on Saturday night. At times it's just one big love-in, and us Deadettes are right in the middle of it.

So drop dead, but print this letter first to prove you can take true criticism. — A DEAD-ETTE

$5,000 Meteorite Is Missing

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — Missing: One meteorite valued at $5,000.

The "Basket Meteorite," so-called because it is shaped like a basket with a handle has been stolen from the museum at Meteor Crater near Flagstaff.

The Coconino County sheriff's office issued a nationwide bulletin for its recovery.

They Left Home for Same Purpose

SEATTLE (AP) — When Mr. and Mrs. Keith Zurn rushed out of their house at 5 a.m. Wednesday they found their neighbors, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baur, also leaving home in a hurry.

Since both couples were headed for the same place they decided to ride together. At 5:45 a.m. Mrs. Baur gave birth to a son, and 20 minutes later a boy and a girl were born to Mrs. Zurn.

Pedestrians Who Drink Lead List

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Nearly half the 19 pedestrians who died in Milwaukee traffic accidents during the first seven months of 1968 had been drinking, the city Safety Commission said.

The commission said it was not specifically listing alcoholic beverage as the primary cause of the deaths. Of the nine victims who had been drinking, most were older than 50, and most were injured at night, it said.

Rough Rider Finds Youth Too Soft

By BILL WERTZ
Associated Press Writer
LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP) Eighty-seven-year-old Jesse D. Langdon, one of the last surviving members of Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders, hasn't much use for the younger generation.
"They're soft — haven't got any opinions worth anything," said the Spanish-American War veteran here for the Rough Riders' 69th annual reunion.
Teddy Roosevelt and more than 600 of his Rough Riders gathered in Las Vegas in 1899 for the group's first reunion. They voted to meet annually until the last man died.
Langdon, who lives in Red Oak, N.Y., is one of three known survivors of the famous cavalry group that Roosevelt led up San Juan Hill.
Arthur L. Tuttle, 88, Salinas, Calif., and Frank C. Brito, 91, Las Cruces, N.M., now are too ill to attend the reunion.
Langdon said that Roosevelt asked him only one question. "Can you ride a horse?"
He said he was offered a commission as a lieutenant in the regular Army after his service as a Rough Rider.
"I turned it down," he said. "The Rough Riders were a good group and I got along, but my Daddy told me the first time I swatted an officer in the regular Army I'd be in Leavenworth. And I would have, too. I'm that kind of guy."

Vietnam Of Peace, People
VIETNAM, OUR BELOVED LAND. By Nguyen Cao Dam and Tran Cao Linh. Charles E. Tuttle, Rutland, Vt. $3.50
Conjecture: Any book of a collection of photos on Vietnam must show nothing but blood, horror, war.
Fact: This excellent one contains 86 pictures and eight of them deal with soldiers. All of the eight are of Vietnamese soldiers and none of them is gory.
The other 78 photos reflect exactly what the team of photographer-authors say in their title.
It is not quite enough to say that Dam and Linh are technically excellent photographers and dismiss them with that. Through thoughtful use of shadow, light and careful composition they have produced an emotional experience.
Their beloved Vietnam is one of oxen and mothers and children and old men and rice fields and fishermen and villages and wells. It is peaceful and beautiful and they have captured it.
Simplicity is the theme of their work, with few photographic tricks thrown in. Linh and Dam, with their cameras and very simple text, have recorded the Vietnam that can be.
Swedish Expedition
Earliest Swedish attempt at colonization in the New World was made in 1638, when a Swedish expedition sailed up the Delaware River, where they established a colony and built Ft. Christiana.

WIN AT BRIDGE
Jacobcy Transfer Results in Slam
By Oswald and James Jacobcy

TEXAS AND THE JACOBS have no monopoly on the Jacobcy transfer bid. California used it against the Dallas Orange Team to bid a fine slam.
The bidding is interesting in that it shows how far modern expert bidding has gone on the road to artificial methods to get the most out of good hands.
South's opening no-trump bid is standard and North's two-spade response is a special Jacobcy transfer bid to show both minor suits and a hand that might range anywhere from a bad hand to a tremendous one.
The three-diamond rebid by South said that he had better diamonds than clubs and North's three-spade bid said, "I have something in spades."
South knew that no-trump was going to be a bad contract. North had shown a minor two-suit hand and something in spades. He could not have hearts also. South bid four clubs!
North was now ready to invite the slam. What better way could there be than a four-heart bid? This had to be a cue bid because North had already shown spades, diamonds and clubs.
South's jump to five no-trump was the artificial bid called the "grand slam force." It asked North to bid seven with good diamonds. North had good diamonds but they weren't good enough. He needed king-queen or maybe king-jack. North signed off at six diamonds.
The Dallas audience was worried once more. They couldn't gain. Could they break even?
Of course, they broke even. After all the Jacobcy transfer is a Dallas invention. The Orange North-South pair reached six diamonds on exactly the same bidding sequence.

YOUR DENTAL HEALTH

Do You Ever Dream You Lost Your Teeth?

By WILLIAM LAWRENCE, D.D.S.

Albert P., 55-year-old hard-working, golf-playing executive, not at all impressed by his accomplishments, dreamed that all his teeth crumbled and fell out.

Adele J., 37-year-old blond and blooming mother and wife, her own cook, maid, housekeeper, social secretary and working hard at all, dreamed she rinsed her mouth and spit all her teeth down the drain.

Gladys G., attractive 40-year-old woman, striving to achieve in organizational activities, to grow intellectually, and to better her marital relationship, dreamed that all her teeth melted away.

Gloria M., 38-year-old career woman with a position in the business world most men would envy, dreamed that all her teeth loosened and fell out.

What does this mean? Freud says dreams about teeth are typical because so many people have these identical dreams involving loss of many or all teeth.

Interpretations vary with the life of the person and are therefore not similar since individuals are not similar. But while most psychoanalysts say that interpretations depend on the mental health of the person at the time, particularly if there is an underlying psychosis, they agree that dreams involving loss of teeth are symbolically related to sex: impotency, castration, birth fantasies, homosexuality, masturbation and all sorts of emotional entanglements. But alas, along comes a psychoanalyst who with one bold sentence normalizes all of us so-called normal humans with "... the crucial significance of dreams involving loss of many or all teeth is fear of growing old and extreme frustration of feeling that we will grow old before accomplishing the goals of which we believe ourselves capable."

Now that's something that most of us would rather believe and identify with! Teeth play an important role in our lives at every stage of our development. Realistic concern about dental health, equating poor health with loss of teeth, and a pervasive feeling of devastation and anxiety about old age and all it represents, (may I cautiously say) seems quite normal.

Now that's something that most of us would rather believe and identify with! Teeth play an important role in our lives at every stage of our development. Realistic concern about dental health, equating poor health with loss of teeth, and a pervasive feeling of devastation and anxiety about old age and all it represents, (may I cautiously say) seems quite normal.

Interpretations vary with the life of the person and are therefore not similar since individuals are not similar. But while most psychoanalysts say that interpretations depend on the mental health of the person at the time, particularly if there is an underlying psychosis, they agree that dreams involving loss of teeth are symbolically related to sex: impotency, castration, birth fantasies, homosexuality, masturbation and all sorts of

U. S. Five Will Be Ready for Soviets
BY FRANK ECK
AP Newsfeatures Sports Editor

When you play the Russians in basketball it's more than just a game says Charlie Scott, the North Carolina junior who is looking forward to meeting the Soviets again in the Olympics in Mexico City in October.

In June, Scott toured Yugoslavia and Russia with a team composed of many of his U.S. Olympic teammates. The Americans won in Yugoslavia and Minsk but lost a showdown tournament to the Russians in Moscow.

"When we lined up against the Russians," says Scott, "I never felt such pressure — not even in last spring's NCAA finals against UCLA. A game against the Russians is more than just a basketball game. The court becomes a political battlefield."

Scott was disappointed over the way the Russians used the games for propaganda purposes.

"When we won in Minsk," says Scott, "there was no mention of the game in newspapers or on television. But when we lost in Moscow, it made big news."

Despite setbacks in Moscow, Scott feels the Americans will do well even without Lew Alcindor.

"The Russians are very good fundamentally," says Scott, "and they shoot well. But I don't believe they have the overall finesse of American players. We have a good chance to beat them in the Olympics."

"They were allowed to take an additional step after completing a dribble. We, of course, are only allowed one and a half steps under our rules. The extra step the Russians take makes us more vulnerable on defense."

Scott says the size of the Russian team will surprise all the teams in Mexico. "They have a 7-foot-2 center and many other tall players," says the Tar Heel. "The center blocks some shots but he lacks finesse. He's not as good as the seven-foot players in this country."

Scott points out that the Russians really are professionals competing in international amateur competition.

"Once they are picked for the Russian Olympic team," he says, "they are paid a salary and all they do is play basketball. The same thing applies to all their teams in other sports."

Scott says the best American scorer on the tour was 6-foot-8 Spencer Haywood of Trinidad Junior College in Colorado. He thinks Spencer is one of the game's great players and will make a fine pro someday.

"If people here could visit Russia for a few days, they would realize what a great country we live in," says Scott. "I've never seen so many people look so unhappy. I saw women working on construction jobs. All I heard the whole time I was in Russia was about the long work day — usually 12 hours — and about the lack of entertainment."

On Sept. 5 Scott will report to Adams State College at Alamosa, Colo., with the rest of the American team for three weeks of intensive training under Coach Hank Iba.

The American team will play an exhibition against the New York Knickerbockers in Madison Square Garden on Sept. 28. The Cincinnati Royals will be met the next day in Cincinnati, and on Oct. 5 they play the Denver Rockets of the American Basketball League.

After these three games against real pros maybe the Russians won't look so big to Charlie Scott.

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Wally Duncan, 71, swam seven miles of the Owasco Lake Tuesday before being pulled from the water four miles from his goal at the end of the lake. He battled a 12-mile-an-hour wind for seven hours before quitting because of pains in his left arm.

LINE—Next to receiving, solidest part of club. Enough bodies so that Saban might want to experiment with Curley Culp, his top rookie, on offense. Dave Costa was the strong man on the interior, with Jerry Lamon glomping. Rich Jackson and Pete Duranko could be on the flanks, with Rex Martin able to play any place. Rating—B+.

LINEBACKING—A notch better if only for the fact that last year's starters were all rookies and have to benefit by the experience. John Huard has the middle to himself. Chip Myrtle, filled out to 230, is a blooming terror on one corner. Frank Richter has to fight off competition of Carl Cunningham for the third job. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—Major concern of Broncos. Only one familiar face from last year. Jack Lutz at free safety. Complete revamping on corners finds such unknown rookies as Charlie Greer, Steve Holloway, Martin Briscoe on spot. At least, Bobby Fly, leading contender for strong safety, has the savvy of seven-year vet. Rating—D.

KICKING—Best punting in league from Bob Scarpitto. Deaneer attitude notwithstanding. But the place-kicking by Bob Humphreys has been erratic, though he has the length. Rating—B.

Ohio State, Minnesota Bar Path to Pasadena

By TOMMY THOMAS
NEA Sports Writer

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—(NEA)—Some huge lads from Lafayette are planning to spend next New Year's Eve in Pasadena with Mollenkopf cocktails.

Purdue had everything last season—a piece of the Big Ten championship, the NCAA's leading scorer, an offense that was 100 points better than conference opponents, a new home attendance record, even college football's largest marching band—everything but tickets to the Rose Bowl.

Coach Jack Mollenkopf's squad had been to Pasadena the year before, thus was ineligible to return for a second straight time. Cross-state rival Indiana surprised everyone, including itself, to earn the postseason trip.

This year, the Hoosiers are probably no better than fourth with Minnesota and Ohio State rated excellent chances to challenge for the title. But it is the Boilermakers who figure to brew the most trouble in the Big Ten.

Here's why: Leroy Keyes, who led the nation in scoring and was third in the Heisman Trophy balloting, is probably the most versatile performer in college football. He is equally dangerous as both runner and receiver.

Mike Phipps, the quarterback who set school total offense records as a sophomore last season, is both a running and passing threat. Fullback Perry Williams is possibly the strongest runner in the league, and middle guard Chuck Kyle, another All-American candidate, heads a defense that doesn't quite match the offensive attack but should be adequate enough to help bring Purdue the title.

Mollenkopf, starting his 13th season, will have 28 returning lettermen, including six offensive starters and five on defense. Purdue has a couple of intersectional breathers in Virginia and Wake Forest, and if it gets by Notre Dame the second week of the season, look for the Boilermakers to roll through the Big Ten en route to the title and probable top national ranking.

Purdue made its very first trip to Pasadena in the 1967 Rose Bowl game. Purdue fans would like to make it a habit. If only every other year.

OHIO STATE: Coach Woody Hayes has 15 of last fall's 22 starters returning, plus talent from the freshman team he considered the best at Columbus in two decades. Bill Long, a starter as a soph and injured last year, provides quarterback experience, and there's plenty of depth at the other positions. Another plus is the schedule: The Buckeyes play neither Minnesota nor Indiana this season. An upset over Purdue in their first conference game could give the Bucks all the momentum they need.

MINNESOTA: Coach Murray Warmath's 27 returning lettermen include eight offensive and seven defensive starters from last season's squad that earned a share of the conference title. Strength and depth in the backfield plus a defensive unit led by All-American end Bob Stein are the Gophers' main attributes.

Minnesota meets defending national champion Southern California in the season opener, then should have smooth rolling till the Purdue game in November.

OREGON STATE: Coach Dee Andros lost to Washington early last season, and it cost the Beavers the Rose Bowl berth. Oregon State went on to defeat Purdue, Southern California and play Gary Beban and UCLA to a tie. Andros says he will be disappointed if his current squad isn't better than the 7-2-1 team in '67. Jones, a flashy halfback, to State led the league in rushing and the backfield returns intact. Both offensive and defensive lines will be light, with the exception of guard Larry Agajanian, a 250-pounder who's one of the best in the West. Zenon Andrusyshyn, the Canadian soccer booter, provides a stout kicking game for the Uclans. Prothro's speedy lightweights could win the title but will have to thwart the running attacks of USC and Oregon State to do it.

OJ Runs for the Roses

By TOMMY THOMAS
NEA Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES—(NEA)—Contrary to popular belief, Mr. O. J. Simpson will not don his uniform in September, receive a pat on the rump from his coach and simply jog in front of the television cameras to receive his Heisman Trophy.

Southern California lost 19 players from its national championship squad, including four starters from the offensive line, which was so instrumental in springing Simpson loose last season.

Still, coach John McKay's Trojans figure once again to earn a Rose Bowl berth by being the best in the Pacific Eight Conference. Only cross-town rival UCLA and Oregon State seem capable of ending USC's string.

Much of the offensive load will fall on fullback Dan Scott and flanker Jim Lawrence. It will be up to them to create enough of a threat to make Simpson as dangerous as last year. Either veteran Steve Sogge or newcomer Mike Holmgren will handle the quarterbacking, which shouldn't be a problem. Experience will be.

"We lack experience both ways," says McKay. "Our talent is good but young players are prone to make mistakes."

They'll get the opportunity to make plenty in the first three games, all against intersectional foes. McKay figures his forces will be ready to roll by the time the league competition begins in mid-October, if not sooner.

McKay remains optimistic about his offensive line, which includes center Dick Allmon (225), guards Steve Lehmer (230) and Fred Khasigian (215), and tackles Sid Smith (256) and Jack O'Malley (261).

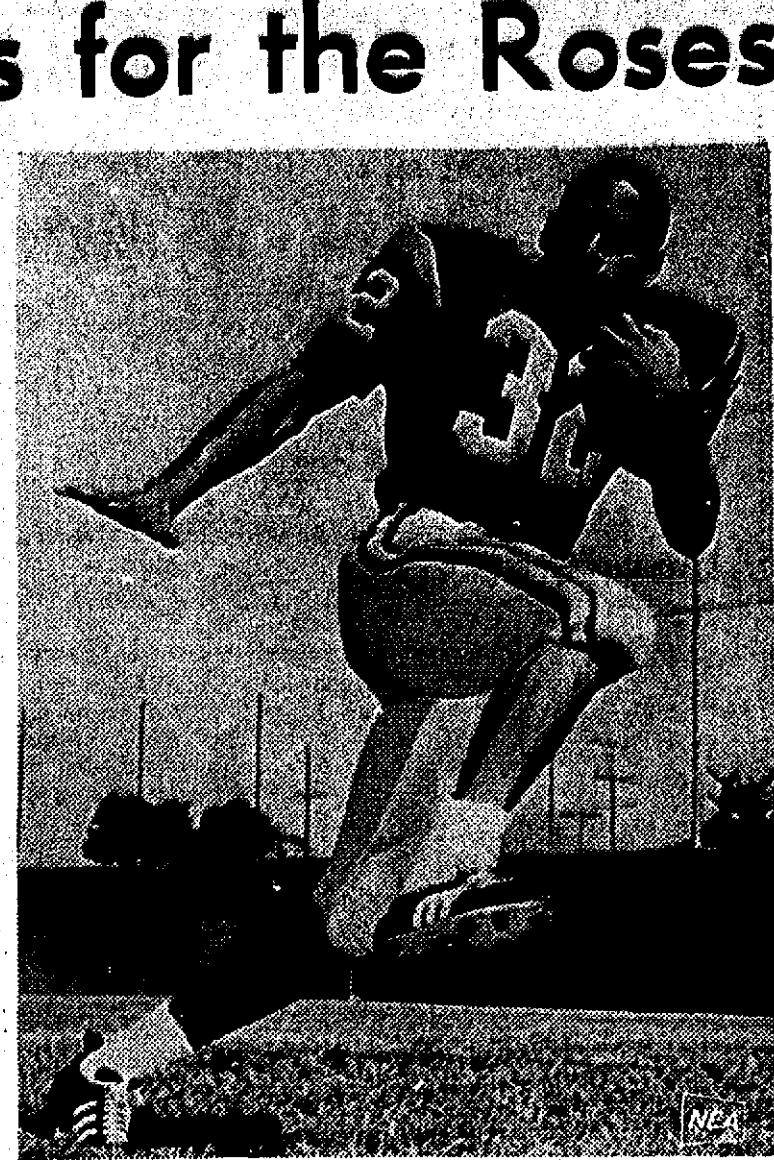

On defense, linebacker Jim Snow is in charge and safetyman Mike Battle could again lead the nation in punt-return yardage. Also returning is Rikki Aldridge, successful in all but one of his 35 conversion attempts last season. He also kicked four field goals and punted 54 times without one being blocked.

If Simpson matches past performances, as expected, USC should make its third straight trip to Pasadena and O. J. should receive that elusive Heisman Trophy.

OREGON STATE—Coach Dee Andros lost to Washington early last season, and it cost the Beavers the Rose Bowl berth. Oregon State went on to defeat Purdue, Southern California and play Gary Beban and UCLA to a tie. Andros says he will be disappointed if his current squad isn't better than the 7-2-1 team in '67. Jones, a flashy halfback, to State led the league in rushing and the backfield returns intact. Prothro's speedy lightweights could win the title but will have to thwart the running attacks of USC and Oregon State to do it.

NUMBER 32 will become a painfully familiar sight to opponents of USC this season, that being the jersey worn by O. J. Simpson (above), the man most likely to guide the Trojans' and coach John McKay's (right) return to the Rose Bowl.

hurdler Ron Copeland as pass receivers, a speedy 200-pound quarterback named Bill Boland to throw to them and Greg Jones, a flashy halfback, to handle most of the running. Both offensive and defensive lines will be light, with the exception of guard Larry Agajanian, a 250-pounder who's one of the best in the West. Zenon Andrusyshyn, the Canadian soccer booter, provides a stout kicking game for the Uclans. Prothro's speedy lightweights could win the title but will have to thwart the running attacks of USC and Oregon State to do it.

AFL WEST: Denver Broncos

PROSPECTUS—"If I could break even, I'd be happy," says Lou Saban. At least, he recognizes his players this year by face. Broncos are no longer supporting the airlines. Last season was devoted to getting acquainted. Now they're expecting considerable progress in second year of Saban regime, in direct ratio to improvement of Steve Tensi at quarterback. Top receivers insure respectable offense, but the defensive secondary is suspect. PREDICTION—Fourth in West.

RECEIVING—Could be on par with best in league. There's no doubt Al Denson rates all-league consideration. Thrived as an outside threat, and Eric Crabtree was the surprise of last year. Good clutch player. Have Bob Scarpitto, kid named Bill Van Heusen behind them. At tight end, soph Tom Beer slimmed down to 225 and will improve. Rating—A-.

RUNNING—If they can get adequate fullback to go with Floyd Little, Saban can balance out his attack. Bo Hickey's gone—too fat. Garrett Ford or Ron Lamb, couple of first-year men, are the hopes. Little, hurt last year, worked with weights to build up strength, should jock up running average. Rating—B-.

LINE—Not at all imposing. Closest thing to a new look is Bob Vaughn, a reserve guard. Expect improvement from George Gooddecke at guard and shifted Tom Cichowski over as his running mate. Sam Brunelli, Mike Current shape up as the tackles, helped by Larry Cox, ex-defense. Larry Kaminski remains at center. Rating—C.

DEFENSE

LINE—Next to receiving, solidest part of club. Enough bodies so that Saban might want to experiment with Curley Culp, his top rookie, on offense. Dave Costa was the strong man on the interior, with Jerry Lamon glomping. Rich Jackson and Pete Duranko could be on the flanks, with Rex Martin able to play any place. Rating—B+.

RARE CREATURE brought a fancy price from the Stuttgart (Germany) Zoo. The albino crocodile was purchased from a Dutch trader for $2,500. It is believed to be five years old.

In the numbers game of politics a new bumper sticker has shown up to simplify the presidential race. In patriotic red, white and blue the sticker proclaims: 2P divided by GW equals H3. Translated this means two parties divided by George Wallace equals Hubert Humphrey.

Arithmetic plays a big role in the election process. Polls count the voters and delegates count the polls with the hope of picking the Man Who Can Win. The dream pair is another goal of the parties — that combination which will produce a multiplication of votes.

We suspect that after convention time both parties will turn up with an equation that is simply too well balanced. Something like Democrat equals Republican. — Atlanta (Ga.) Journal

Out, Pollsters, Leave Us Be

If all the people who take polls were laid end to end, they wouldn't reach from one end of Miami Beach Convention Hall to the other. Yet the pollsters threaten to tangle the process by which the nation selects its leaders.

If the polls show Richard Nixon is the darling of a majority of this party, then why bother with the convention? If the polls show that George Wallace will throw the national election into the House of Representatives, then why not proceed there directly? As in Monopoly, do no pass Go, go directly to Jail.

There is a grave danger in all of this, as we said when George Romney became a non-candidate before the people had a chance to express their opinion at the only place with validity — in the privacy of a polling booth. The nation is now up to its neck in this flood of opinion polls. If it goes higher, the political body could drown. — Miami (Fla.) Herald

Observation

In Miami Beach, Congresswoman Frances Bolton of Ohio has scored one of the fashion coups of the Republican convention with her unique camera flash cube earrings. The earrings could be a painful first, however, if one of the little bulbs should flash accidentally and spin around hard and fast as they are wont to do when triggered. Not even a political delegate should have an ear bent in such fashion — even such high fashion. — Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times

Eavesdropping Against Hoffa Is Upheld

CHICAGO (AP) — A federal appeals court has upheld a lower court finding that electronic eavesdropping by the government did not aid in the 1964 conviction of James R. Hoffa, imprisoned Teamsters union president.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals agreed Thursday with a finding by U.S. District Judge Richard B. Austin that "the government obtained no new information from the electronically eavesdropped overhearings." One of the three judges dissented.

Hoffa was sentenced to five years in prison and fined $10,000 in the 1964 conviction for fraud and conspiracy in using $1 million in union pension funds to finance a Sun Valley, Fla., real estate project.

The sentence was vacated by the U.S. Supreme Court, which ordered a hearing to determine whether admitted government wiretapping aided in the conviction.

Austin issued the finding Aug. 22, 1967, against Hoffa after the Teamsters official and five co-defendants contended the government had based its 1964 case on a wiretap of the telephone of S. George Burris of New York, one of the co-defendants.

Austin ordered the five-year term to run consecutively with an eight-year sentence imposed in Chattanooga, Tenn., on conviction of jury tampering. Hoffa is serving in the Lewisburg, Pa., federal penitentiary.

Convention to Show Film on Kennedy

by HARRY F. ROSENTHAL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A 20-minute motion picture depicting the public life of Robert F. Kennedy is being prepared for the Democratic National Convention — but party officials refuse to say when or if it will be shown.

Charles Guggenheim said in an interview that his Washington production firm was commissioned by the Kennedy family to make the film. He said the project is 60 per cent completed.

Four years ago, Kennedy — then attorney general and a candidate for the Senate — stood head bowed and eyes moist before the Democratic convention in Atlantic City and introduced a similar film of highlights in the life of his brother, John F. Kennedy, slain nine months earlier by an assassin.

For 13 minutes, the thousands in convention hall cheered Robert Kennedy. When the lights went on after the film, thousands were weeping.

Guggenheim's firm, which made a documentary for Kennedy of his 1964 Senate campaign, has asked for film footage from television networks and television stations and for still pictures from news media.

The film will be in black and white. The narrator, Guggenheim said, will be someone well known.

Guggenheim was reluctant to discuss specific scenes because the movie is subject to approval by the Kennedy family.

"This will not be a definitive biography, but rather the quality of a man's life," he said. "I don't think we have to trick it up to get an emotional response — the loss people feel is the quality the man communicated."

The Democratic National Committee has refused to say if the film is scheduled.

Low Bid on Housing Units

TRUMANN, Ark. (AP) — James L. Lackey, executive director of the Trumann Housing Authority, said Thursday that the McDaniel Construction Co. of Jonesboro was apparent low bidder on a contract to construct 80 low-rent public housing units and a community center at Trumann.

Lackey said McDaniel's bid was $1,249,000. He said the only other bid was submitted by the Daniel Construction Co. of Little Rock was more than $145,000 above McDaniel's bid.

Giant March Underway in Uruguay

By ANIBAL ARGUELLO
Associated Press Writer
MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (AP) — About 5,000 demonstrators who had marched in a giant funeral procession for a student killed in earlier rioting stoned foreign-owned companies Thursday night and chanted antigovernment slogans.

The mob stirred an uproar in the 18th of July Avenue for more than four hours and police made no effort to stop it.

The demonstrators shouted, "The people back the university! Gorillas (the military) should be shot! This government of thieves should resign!"

Targets for their stones included offices of Pan American Airways and General Electric Co.

Barret Diaz, secretary-general of the Federation of University Students, declared today that the federation had nothing to do with Thursday night's disorders. He said they were the work of "agents provocateurs" infiltrated in the student movement.

Earlier, a massive antigovernment display — the funeral procession of more than 50,000 and a 24-hour general strike in sympathy — had proceeded peacefully, again with police making no move to interfere.

Wants Laws to Control Satellites

VIENNA (AP) — A United Nations agency reported today that satellites "represent a turning point in the history of communication" but warned that international laws are needed to control them.

UNESCO — the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization — said that agreements must be made to ensure the use of satellite communications in the public interest for peaceful purposes and for better understanding among nations.

The agency said satellite communications should be readily available to all nations and there should be agreement on assignment of available radio frequencies.

The report was presented at the first U.N. conference on peaceful uses of outer space, which opened Wednesday with delegates attending from 74 nations.

UNESCO cited direct broadcast satellites as a potential for trouble. These satellites, expected to be developed by the mid-1970s, will contain such powerful transmitters and antennas that they will beam directly to home television sets without the need for a ground relay station.

"The more international communications the satellites carry," the report said, "the more necessary it will become to surround the satellite system with a pattern of law and orderliness and some institutional arrangements to manage the control problems. If these arrangements are not in working order by the time we begin direct broadcasting from satellites, then we shall face a very dangerous situation."

Without regulation, one U.N. official said, individual nations could use satellites as a powerful propaganda tool.

"Suppose, for example," he said, "there was a race riot in an American city. An unfriendly nation could beam television or radio messages of encouragement directly into the home of the rioters, sympathizing with their cause. The same thing could be done to influence an election on the eve of voting."

The report envisioned "satellite technology which would make worldwide electronic distribution of news, newspapers and any other printed or visual information material possible for reception on individual sets."

"Without control, you can see the propaganda possibilities here," the official said.

If properly used, UNESCO said, "education by means of television can be vastly improved. Natural barriers to cultural exchange between peoples can be overcome. Technical obstacles to the free flow of information can to a large extent be removed."

UNESCO said it hoped the problem of international satellite communications could be discussed and a draft declaration prepared at the U.N. General Assembly this fall.

Constitution Delegate

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Emil W. Hahn of Hazen filed Thursday as a delegate to the proposed state constitutional convention. Hahn filed for Pos. 1, District 24 which is Prairie and Arkansas counties.

Haitian Pardons Son-in-Law

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — President Francois Duvalier has pardoned his son-in-law, Col. Max Dominique, who was sentenced to death last year after the president accused him of plotting against the Duvalier regime.

Informed sources said Wednesday Dominique now would be welcome to return from exile in Europe. Duvalier sent his daughter, Marie-Denise, and Dominique away in June 1967 after a purge in which 19 military officers, several of them friends of Dominique, were executed. The death sentence for Dominique was decreed in absentia in September.

Old Pros to Run Demo Convention

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — A five-man team of "old pros," with two members already committed to a candidate and the other three ostensibly neutral, will run the Democratic National Convention that opens in Chicago a week from Monday.

The two who have taken sides are backing Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for the No. 1 spot on the ticket. Two others are long-time supporters of President Johnson but haven't announced for anyone yet.

The lineup drew charges of a stacked deck from the forces of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy when it was announced by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey.

But the McCarthy people, already digging in for tough battles over credentials and the party platform, are reluctantly accepting the convention officers.

Here is the lineup:

The two who have endorsed Humphrey are Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who will head the platform committee, and Sen. Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, who will keynote the convention and serve as temporary chairman.

Both Rep. Carl B. Albert of Oklahoma, the permanent chairman, and Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey, who will head the credentials committee, were strong Johnson supporters but have stayed uncommitted since the President's withdrawal.

So has Gov. Samuel H. Shapiro of Illinois, who was named as chairman of the rules committee less than a month after he took over as governor following Otto E. Kerner's resignation to become a federal appeals judge.

Albert, 60, takes over as permanent chairman from House Speaker John W. McCormack, who asked to be relieved of the post he held four years ago and was named honorary chairman.

Marijuana Charge Filed

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — Corky Hugh Ely, 22, of Huttig (Union County) has been charged with possessing marijuana. Authorities arrested Ely Wednesday on U.S. 82, about eight miles east of Strong. Officers said they confiscated a small amount of raw-leafy material.

Bill Saunders, a deputy sheriff, said Ely was released on $1,000 bond. Authorities said they arrested Ely after a tip from Louisiana officials.

Ike Gravely III With 7th Heart Attack

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower once more lies gravely ill after suffering his seventh, and possibly one of his worst, heart attacks.

The five-star general was stricken at the Army's Walter Reed General Hospital at 125 p.m. Friday — just as he had apparently been on the road to recovery from his most recent previous cardiac assault Aug. 6.

The new attack was the fourth in 3½ months. And it was the third in a row to strike when the old warrior and elder statesman had appeared to be on his way to recovery from the previous one.

Indeed, at the time of the two most recent previous attacks, Eisenhower had been within about a week of discharge from the hospital to return to his Gettysburg farm home.

An indication of the severity of the newest attack lay in the fact the Army doctors voluntarily described it as "another serious" one in their initial report.

In the earlier attacks suffered at Walter Reed, the initial reports said only that the 77-year-old general had suffered "another" seizure without using such labels as "major" or "serious."

The formal medical bulletin said: "Gen. Eisenhower sustained another serious heart attack at 125 p.m. today (Friday). Prior to this attack the general was feeling well, was in excellent spirits and had been progressing satisfactorily. His condition at this report is stable. The doctors interpret this episode as serious but have not as yet appraised its full consequences."

The word "stable" means that Eisenhower's so-called "vital signs"—blood pressure, pulse and breathing rate—have remained at satisfactory levels for at least some period after the attack.

The lineup drew charges of a stacked deck from the forces of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy when it was announced by Democratic National Chairman John M. Bailey.

But the McCarthy people, already digging in for tough battles over credentials and the party platform, are reluctantly accepting the convention officers.

Fierce New Battles Flare in Vietnam

By JOHN LENGEL
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Fierce new battles flared up along the northern frontier, in the central highlands and east of Saigon, with heavy casualties reported on both sides, the allied command said today.

Allied troops repulsed four enemy attacks Thursday and Friday and U.S. Marines making a helicopter assault Friday against North Vietnamese positions ran into an enemy mortar barrage.

The sharp, scattered fighting stood out against what U.S. officials have interpreted as a long general lull in the war while the enemy refitted and rested its forces for an expected major offensive.

The heaviest action was around the training camp and artillery headquarters of the South Vietnamese 18th Division at Xuan Loc, 40 miles east of Saigon.

The Viet Cong sent sappers and riflemen against the installation behind a 300-round mortar barrage Thursday, then ambushed one of the division's battalions Friday five miles south-east of the town. Vietnamese sources reported 100 enemy soldiers killed in the two clashes.

They said 52 government soldiers were killed and 112 wounded.

In the northern sector, 15 enemy sappers got into positions of a U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division unit Friday as the enemy launched a strong mortar and ground attack against the American positions 15 miles northwest of Hue.

Spokesmen said 18 Americans were killed and 55 wounded and 17 enemy bodies were found, including those of three sappers killed inside the defensive perimeter.

Farther north, about 10 miles below the center of the demilitarized zone, enemy mortars killed four U.S. Marines and wounded 82 as the Leathernecks landed by helicopter for an attack.

Franco to Up Cabinet Pay

LA CORUNA, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco's Cabinet has decided to raise the ceiling on salaries, frozen since the Spanish peseta was devalued last November.

Information Minister Manuel Figa Iribarne told newsmen after Oct. 1 salaries can be boosted a maximum of 5.9 per cent.

Iribarne also announced a new decree raising the minimum wage from $1.37 to $1.45 a day starting Jan. 1.

New Missile Shot Right on Schedule

By F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's newest missile, the Navy's Poseidon, shot into the dawn right on schedule at 6:30 a.m., EDT, today in its maiden flight.

A bright silver bird that will someday take its place in the nuclear submarine fleet sent a brilliant flame from its dryland launch pad as it left Cape Kennedy and two minutes into the air spun a plume of pattern as it soared out of sight. It carried a dummy warhead.

The Navy issued a terse announcement five minutes after the launch saying the shot was a complete success that moved the Poseidon forward on its schedule to become part of the fleet by the early 1970's.

There was no immediate indication whether it achieved its test goal of a 1,000-mile flight into the Atlantic Ocean.

Poseidon was one of two new, powerful missiles scheduled for testing here today. Both were designed to improve chances of penetrating enemy defenses.

Slated to blast off later today was the Air Force's Minuteman 3.

Both Poseidon and Minuteman 3 have specially designed warheads that can contain several bombs and carry computers to aim them at targets hundreds of miles apart.

The launchings were prepared amid controversy over whether the timing would interfere with efforts of the United States and the Soviet Union to reach some form of agreement on the curbing of armaments.

One argument has been that the new weapons are of such importance in increasing the level of possible destruction that the testing of them should be delayed until U.S.-Soviet talks can be held.

Another view is that the new weapons would give the United States greater bargaining power in reaching an arms-limitation agreement.

The new missiles are known as MIRVs, or multiple independently targetable re-entry vehicles.

Poseidon at full development may carry as many as 10 bombs in the warhead along with metal chaff and decoys to confuse enemy radar. Its range exceeds 2,500 miles although a goal of about 1,000 miles was set for the initial flight.

Twenty inches fatter at 74 inches diameter than the most advanced Polaris A3, Poseidon also is three feet longer and weighs twice as much at 65,000 pounds.

Thirty-one of the 41 U.S. ballistic missile submarines eventually will be converted for the larger weapons at a cost of about $100 million a ship. The Navy already has contracted for the first conversion, the USS Daniel Boone.

After several launchings from Cape Kennedy, Poseidon tests will shift to surface ship and then to submarines.

The Minuteman 3 is a third generation development of the missile which already makes up the bulk of the nation's retaliatory force in underground silos around the country.

The warhead system on this first Minuteman 3, called the Mark 12, has its own programmed computer, guidance system and aiming and fusing devices. It carries three warheads.

Minuteman 3 rockets also will be capable of carrying the Mark 11 re-entry vehicle with a single warhead packing more punch than the Mark 12.

Nuclear War Missile Shot Successful

By F. T. MACFEELY
Associated Press Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Two highly destructive multiple-warhead missiles designed to penetrate deep into enemy defenses entered the U.S. nuclear arsenal Friday with spectacular back-to-back launchings. The missiles—the Navy's Poseidon, capable of carrying 10 warheads that can be sprayed on preselected targets hundreds of miles apart, and the Air Force's Minuteman 3—were labeled completely successful in maiden test flights from the space complex at Cape Kennedy.

When they become operational, the missiles will replace the Polaris and Minuteman 1 and 2 as the backbone of America's retaliatory force. Both are expected to be placed on operational status in about two years.

Details of the test flights were not disclosed. Official spokesmen for the space agency and the two services announced only that the Minuteman successfully traveled its planned 5,000-mile journey to a splashdown near Ascension Island and the Poseidon came down at a predetermined point 1,000 miles at sea.

Poseidon, rated potentially eight times as effective as Polaris, is 34 feet long, 74 inches in diameter and weighs 65,000 pounds. Like the Polaris, it has a range of 2,500 miles but it reportedly is twice as accurate as the older missile.

The bigger, far-ranging Minuteman 3 is designed to take up to three warheads on a rocket that is 59 feet, 9 inches long and 6 feet wide. The missile weighs 76,000 pounds and is capable of traveling more than 6,000 miles.

Both have computerized and motorized devices capable of dispersing nuclear warheads over scattered targets selected prior to launch. Present Polaris and Minuteman payloads can only follow a ballistic trajectory once they are released.

Defense spokesmen say the missiles, with their multitarget and penetration capabilities, could give the United States an edge in deterrent strength over the Soviet Union.

However, some critics say the development of the new missiles could bring on a deadlier arms race with the Soviet Union.

An Anti-Mao Army Exists, Says Bulletin

HONG KONG (AP) — A Red Guard "news bulletin" reportedly published in Wuhan in July, claims an anti-Mao Tse-tung army exists in Hupeh Province and is armed with some 50,000 firearms and more than 200 vehicles.

The bulletin, seen in Hong Kong today, said the force is led by veterans of the pre-1949 Communist Chinese army and also officers of the present 8201st Army based in the Hupeh area.

There was no confirmation of the report.

This anti-Mao army has established secret underground headquarters in Wuhan and includes anti-Mao army officers as well as workers, peasants, cadres and students, the report said.

The bulletin said it was connected with the "one million heroes army" in Wuhan which reportedly kidnapped two top-ranking emissaries of Mao-Hsi Chi, the public security minister, and Wang Lin, then director of party propaganda department last summer.

Edison Home to Be Closed

WEST ORANGE, N.J. (AP) — The home of Thomas A. Edison, inventor of the electric light bulb, will be closed to the public for six months for electrical repairs.

A spokesman for the National Park Service announced Thursday that the inventor's home, Glenmont, which is preserved as an historical site, will be shut down Monday until Jan. 17, 1969.
